

EDITORIAL

E. Brentari

Starting from this issue, the journal name is both in Italian and in English (Statistica & Applicazioni and Statistics & Applications) for improving the international visibility.

In addition, the publisher Vita & Pensiero realized the journal's new website, available at <http://statisticaeapplicazioni.vitaepensiero.it>, where all the published papers are downloadable for free. In this way, we hope to increase the journal diffusion within the scientific community, in order to receive and publish a higher number of quality papers and thus improve prestige and quality of our journal.

At the beginning of September, I received the unexpected news of the death of Prof. Livia Dancelli, who was a member of the Scientific Committee of this journal, an accurate reviewer of Statistica & Applicazioni's papers and author of publications.

Those who, like me, have had the honor of working with Prof. Dancelli know her high scientific rigor and her huge humanity. These are the reasons why her passing is so painful for me and the entire Editorial Secretariat, who considered Livia Dancelli as a constant point of reference.

The Scientific Committee will find the way to remember her properly.
